About the Seminar

It will be a three day national seminar on Introspecting Environmental Issues in India: Problems and Solutions. While India has one of the fastest growing populations in the world today, it's far behind most others when it comes to preserving the environment and the ecology. Today, our country is riddled with a number of environmental concerns which have only aggravated in the last few decades. It is high time we tackled these issues head on as turning a blind eye is no solution. Even as India races ahead to join the league of top economies internationally, it must stick to a growth path that is environmentally sustainable. Neglecting the environment can create havoc and the damage done may become irreparable. So we must wake up and smell the coffee before it's too late.

We cordially invite the academicians, researchers, representatives of the civil society and research scholars to submit their research papers on the sub-themes to be covered in different technical sessions during the national seminar. Interested participants may submit soft copies of the abstracts and full papers for presentation in the proposed seminar.

Sub Themes:

- Environmental pollution in India
- Evil consequences of urbanization and its solutions
- Air, water and land pollution and its remedies
- Decline in natural resources and its consequences
- Depletion of forest resources and its remedies
- Domestic pollution and its remedies
- Health effects of pollution
- Global warming: The way out
- Climate change: Causes and remedies
- Environmental issues in India: Past and present
